DOMESTIC SERVICE.

Family Servants the Theme of Dr. Talmage's Sermon.

Sumble Vocation Should Rightly Be Regarded as One of Honor. Woman's Opportunity In the Kitchen and Nursery.

[Copyright, 1938, by Louis Klopsch.] CHICAGO, July 26.-In these days of social and domestic struggle the probem of family help is rapidly becoming which there will be mid-seen by the most added to the first importance in our great shade the should be posity to test the beinger it. that domestic service, far from being a vocation to be despised, should right-radiction in terms, but really a pro-'ound truth proved by reason and experience. The men most honored in the world today and the men of the past, whose names history will never forjet, are the men who have rendered the world the best service. Eminence and asting fame are won not by riches or fitles, but by doing something that benprinciple which applies not only to the nighest walks of life, but to the numblest. It may correct our views of a station which it is now the fashion to hold in small esteem if we see how t is affected by this principle. I speak of the girls who, in performing the numble duties of domestic service, conribute so much to the comfort and appiness of a family.

The tremendous opportunities of useilness open to a consecrated domestic s the subject. No position today acrossible to a woman of ordinary menal and physical capabilities will bring greater returns, financially and spiritzally, than that offered to the average servant girl. The gods were supposed to arve allowed the beautiful queen of Syprus to bless her little kingdom in a wonderful way. Every place of the many pour nights to yourself! Compare today the net financial re-turns of the average servant and those turns of the average servant and those of the unskilled worker in any other departments of life. In our large cities the nurse girl receives at least $3.50 to $4 and $5 per week, the good cook from $4 to $7, even to $10, per week, the waitress $4 per week, the chamber of the unskilled worker in any other departments of life.
